THE COAL MOVEMENT

MR. WAITE SAYS IT IS HEAVY AND HE EXPECTS IT TO GROW.

East-Bound Business of Chicago Boom in Traffic for the I. & V.

C. C. Waite, president and general manager of the Columbus & Hocking Valley road, who has been in the city for a day or two, returned to his headquarters at Columbus, O., last evening. Mr. Waite says business on the Columbus & Hocking Valley has been very satisfactory the last few weeks, the coal movement over the line, which is one of the chief features of iness, having been very heavy. What siness would be in the next few months Mr. Walte thinks depends largely on what turn business generally may take. Stocks of coal are light all over the country, and should the manufacturers become busy it will mean a heavy coal traffic through the fall and winter. Mr. Walte said one of his predictions had proved true. When vice sident and general manager of the Cininnati, Hamilton & Dayton the Union tation and train sheds were built, and at each meeting he attended he urged that plans be enlarged, as in ten years the station would be as inadequate to ommodate the travel which would flow and through here as was the old union pot then, and two days' stay in Indian-polls had convinced him that his predicion was more than true, as only five years less had passed, and the present train eds and station proper were now too nited to take care of the business prop-

The Pennsylvania's Monthly Bulletin R. F. Smith, superintendent of the Pennsylvania's voluntary relief department on lines west of Pittsburg, yesterday sent out his monthly report, which shows that in August there was disbursed in death benefits from accident, $1,000; in death benefits from natural causes, $6,450; in accident benefits, $4,332; in sickness benefits, $5,855.60 making the disbursements of the month $17,638.60, being one of the lightest months in benefits paid of the last fourteen. The lisbursements were made to 672 members of the association, and in case of death to their legal heirs. In the sixty-two months sociation has been organized $121,466.63 has been paid in death benefits from accidents, $336,876 on deaths from natural causes, $295,774.95 in accident benefits and 380,365,30 in sickness benefits, making the disbursements of the sixty-two months $1,134,482.84. Fifty-one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six members have drawn benefits since the association commenced operations.

Union Pacific Boycott Off.

Arrangements were completed yesterday by Western roads through which the longdrawn-out boycott against the Union Pacific will be withdrawn Oct. 9: For three years the Union Pacific has been compelled to resist the combination of the Rock Island, the Burlington and the Rio Grande on account of having closed the gateways to these roads in 1891, a boycott against t Union Pacific resulting in 1892. It started over who should have the long haul in the transcontinental business. There has been no reason to demand a settlement until the other lines began making trouble over the ifferentials, when the general agent of the Union Pacific, taking advantage of the situntion, made a proposition to the Southern lines to stop the war and get together on a basis satisfactory to all interests.

East-Bound Shipments.

East-bound shipments from Chicago for the last week amounted to 51,528 tons against 44,183 for the preceding week and 52,413 for the corresponding week of last year. The roads carried tonnage as folows: Michigan Central, 4,554; Wabash, 4,-904; Lake Shore, 4,397; Fort Wayne, 5,883 Panhandle, 7,078; Baltimore & Ohio, 2,973 rand Trunk, 6,801; Nickel-plate, 6,949; Eric. 6,498; Big Four, 1,506, Shipments were made up of the following articles: Flour, 1,818 tons; grain and millstuff, 17,180; provisions, lard, etc., 11,015; dressed beef, 9,758; flax-seed, 1,968; butter, 1,416; hides, 2,238; lumber, 4,139; miscellaneous, 1,616. Lake shipats for the week were 58,551 tons, compared with 73,396 for the week preceding.

A Good Lift for the I. & V. The Island Coal Company held its annual meeting yesterday and re-elected the old board of directors, and they, in turn, the old official board-A. M. Ogle president, E. H. Scott vice president and W. W. Hubbard secretary and treasurer. In the last al year of the company it mined only per cent, as much coal as in the year preceding, the strike injuring their business ously. Vice President Scott says if they have no strike this year they will ship over the Indianapolis & Vincennes road ten sand carioads of coal. Their mines are among the best equipped in the country.

A Legal Obstacle. On Saturday the work of extending the Indiana, Illinois & Iowa to South Bend was brought to a halt by a writ enjoining the company from crossing the tracks of the Lake Erie & Western. The I., I. & I. comoany had planned to cross the track at Valkerton, Ind., and so near the Baltimore & Ohlo tracks that one stop would do on the part of the Lake Erie & Western for both the B. & O. and the Three I.'s, but the Lake Erie & Western did not like the way matters were going and enjoined the L. I. & I. company from crossing.

Rates to the South Cut.

The Illinois Central yesterday announced some reductions in the tariff to the South for laborers. Some days ago it announced that it would make a rate of $13 from Chicago to New Orleans. It has now put in the following additional low rates: Mem-phis, $9: Greenville, $11; Vicksburg, $12; Baton Rouge, $13. All these rates are for parties of five traveling on one ticket.

One of traffic managers of the Pennsylvania lines says that their gross business is 33 per cent, larger than last year at this time, and the increase is not confined to any one point or section, but is general. Sept. 27 has been fixed upon as the date for the general passenger agents to get together at Chicago and endeaveor to form a passenger pool on east-bound busi-ness out of St. Louis, Peoria and Chicago. In a published letter, C. P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific, comes out strongly in favor of consolinating railways into large systems. He says the transportation business of the country will never be done satisfactorily to either the owners of the roads or the people who use them until the railroads are largely consolidated. He thinks there should be but three great transportation companies, and they should operate all the roads of the country. The Central Traffic Association has esablished rates for hunters on the following basis: That to points in authorized territory in the South and Southeast through rates be established or basis of one and one-third lowest first-class limited one way rate to Cairo or St. Louis added to the rates from these points, the lowest through rate thus obtained to be applicable by all legitimate routes; that to points in lower Michigan, the selling rate be one and one-third first-class limited rate from starting point to destination; in each instance sufficient amount be added to make the selling rate end in even 0 or 5, and that to points in upper Michigan, Wisconsin and. Minnesota, the rate be established on basis of one and one-third lowest first-class limited one way rate to rates from those points, the lowest through rate thus obtained to be applicable by all legitimate routes.

THE WEEK AT POMPEIL

State Fair Visitors Will See the Great Spectacle.

Visitors to the State fair will find the

'Last Days of Pompeil," which is to be repeated to-night, to-morrow, Thursday and Friday evenings, the most beautiful and elaborate spectacle ever seen in this part of the country. It is produced here for ten performances only, at an outlay of $20,000, and during the last two weeks nearly forty thousand people have seen it, and that, too, in but five performances. The spectacle gives a vivid representation of the destruction of Pompell by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius, and incidental to the performance are given a number of daring acrobatic and aerial specialties, and the greatest and most elaborte display of fireworks, costing about $1,000 nightly, ever seen in this city. No entertainment of its kind ever seen here has been so highly praised and pleased so many people. The production at Lincoln Park of "Fompeil" s on the same scale of magnificence and picturesqueness as those seen at the world's fair at Chicago last summer and at Manhattan Beach, New York. TION AGAINST KOERNER, NO. 6. German Lodge Temporarily

GRAND LODGE OBTAINS AN INJUNC.

strained from Disposing of Its Property-Suit Against Hawkins.

Late yesterday afternoon Judge Brown, of the Circuit Court, granted a temporary order to the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Indiana which will restrain Koerner Lodge No. 6, of this city, from disposing of its paraphernalia and funds. The order was granted on the application of the attorneys for the Grand Lodge. It was understood by the Grand Lodge officials that Koerner Lodge, having refused to adopt the English ritual prescribed by the Supreme Lodge of the World, would attempt to dispose of its effects at a meeting to be held last night.

The complaint setting up the rights of the Grand Lodge made as defendants to the action the following officials of the subordinate lodge: William Brandt, chancellor commander; John Weber, vice chancellor commander: John Damboaher, prelate; Philip Groff, master of work; A. F Berns, keeper of record and seals; August Woerner, master of finance; John . Grein, master of exchequer; Anton Damboaher, master of claims; Lucas Wehle, William Kottman and Charles Schmidt, trustees. In presenting the cause to the court the complaint quotes a paragraph from Section 3 of the laws governing the order, which provides that when a subordinate lodge dissolves it shall be the duty of the chancellor commander and all the officers to deliver up its dispensation, charter, books, jewels, funds, ritual and all other effects to the grand chancellor or his deputy, and if any officer or member having the custody of any part of the property shall refuse to surrender the same he shall forever be excluded from the order. Section 5 provides that all funds and effects received by the Grand Lodge shall be held for a year, and if at the expiration of that period the subordinate lodge has not been reinstated the Grand Logge shall dispose of the effects and the funds shall become its absolute property. The complaint shows that no subordinate lodge shall adopt or use any lectures, charges or rank work than that prescribed by the ritual of the Supreme Lodge. Koerner Lodge, it is averred, adopted and accepted all the provisions and continued as a subordinate lodge until Sept. 10, 1894, when it withdraw and seceded from the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge. It is shown that at the time of its with-drawal Koerner Lodge possessed a widow and orphans' fund of $1,000 and other proparty and funds as follows: Cash on hand $790.36; loans outstanding from genera fund, $56.28; furniture and supplies of the value of $400; other property of the value of $500. The plaintiff charges that Koerner Lodge withdrew because of the fact that the Supreme Lodge of the World at its last session prohibited the use of the Ger-man ritual, and it is further alleged that the officers and members of Koerner Lodge have organized a body known as the "Inliana Zeitungbund," and that they unlawully and in violation of the laws of the Grand Lodge intend to transfer the proerty of Koerner Lodge to the so-called body. The court was asked to restrain the defendants from delivering any money or effects until the final hearing of the cause, and to instruct the defendants to transfer all property to the plaintiff. Judge Brown set down the final hearing of the Brotherhood Fund Dividends. John C. It is claimed that the brotherhood had this amount of money in the bank at the time of the failure, and that last year the receiver issued the certificate to the treasurer of the brotherhood. It was later assigned to William Darrah and Martin Ducan, members of the union, who, in turn, assigned it to Mr. Wright. Receiver Hawkins states that he declined to pay the dividends because of the many con stories that came to him concerning the ownership of the amount. He says that he recently received a letter from the chief officer in the Federation of Labor, who claims that when the Brotherhood surren-

He was not taken to jail, and at 5 o'clock yesterday evening was able to furnish a and lives with his mother at No. 62 Fayette street. Until recently he enjoyed con-fidential relations with the firm, but when it was suspected that he had been misapplying funds he was dismissed from the company's service. Although the investigation of the firm's books has not been completed, it is estimated that Kreber's shortage will reach $1,500. Kreber claims that he turned over all the property he could command to Mr. Martindale at the latter's own figures, and that he was promised that he would not be prosecuted.

Union Railway Case.

The Union railway tax case was continued in the Appellate Court room yesterday before Judge Reinhard. Auditor Vinnedge, of the railway company, was on the stand testifying about the finances of the corporation. Twelve railroads pay $12,000 rental annually to the Belt company, and in addition pay the operating expenses of the Union railway. In 1891, 750,000 cars were sent over the Belt. Joseph Ramsey, general manager of the St. Louis Terminal Association, was on the stand most of the afternoon detailing the cost of operating railroads. The earning capacity of a road and the cost of constructing a duplicate line he thought the

In the Police Court yesterday morning William Ritter was fined for assaulting patrolmen Wheeler and Thompson. Ritter attempted to "beard the lion in its den." The assault for which he was fined was made at the police station. Both the officers were painfully injured, Wheeler recelving a kick in the face. OPENING OF THE FAIR

THE PRELIMINARY HAMMERING AND FIXING UP IS OVER.

New Implements in the Agricultural Display-An Excellent Card of Racing Each Day.

The State fair ground was again a place of much activity yesterday in the rushing preparations for the opening, which occurred at noon, with the hundreds of exhibitors not yet ready for the crowds. Paid admissions, however, ruled from 12 o'clock, but ticket seller Pat Gorman was not rushed to make change. Those who were present had for the most part something to do, and when the Coup circus started up at 3 o'clock the attendance showed that the people on the grounds found that business before pleasure must be attended to. There was evidence in the great amount of space devoted to exhibits that the expectation of a greater crowd than has yet visited the fair in its present location was general among the exhibitors.

The circus is to be much in evidence this fair. The performances will be continuous, with a procession of the parade of the beautiful Oregon bronchos after each performance in order to let the people know what is going on. The ponies are descendants of the Arabian horses that the Spaniards brought over in their conquest of Mexico and that drifted to the north, where the climate was favorable to their propagation. They multiplied rapidly, and now the plains are full of wild horses full of mettle, spirit and intelligence. The trained ponies in the show were captured wild, and have been taught all they know in a comparatively short time. The circus has other attractions that will no doubt keep the tent full during the crowded days of the fair. The Midway Plaisance feature will not be extensive, and in fact is restricted to the limits of a waxwork exhibit in the Moorish Palace, which, however, contains some figures of much inter-

Among the agricultural exhibits is machine for setting out tobacco, tomato and sweet potato plants. To the boy who has experienced the backache from the stooping position required in this laborious task, which usually falls to his lot, the inventor will be an object of veneration. It is in the exhibit of the Stoddard Manufacturing Company, of Dayton. This company also presents a new design of hay rake, which throws the hay to one side Jenney Electric-light Company has an in-teresting display of electrical machinery near the administration building. The carriage and buggy manufacturing companies of Indiana and Michigan have some handsome vehicles on exhibit to tickle the fancy of the youth with a horse and a best girl.

The agricultural implement display covers forty acres of ground and the secretary says that there are more exhibitors this years entered than ever before. The display is all that the farmer or any one interested in farm products could wish. It there is any device for saving labor and spending surplus earnings of the farmer that is missing, the article has not yet been invented. There are a number of windmills, reminding one of the section at the world's fair. The woman's department is a repository of various works of art and the musical instrument exhibit. building yesterday was full of women who eemed as tired as if they were cleaning house. Their work, however, was rapidly transforming the appearance of the place. Of cattle the fair presents the finest exis nothing to complain of on this score, nor of the sheep, but the action of the railroads in trebling the rates for the shipment of crated hogs has resulted here, as elsewhere, in preventing a full display of the porcine beauties. The fault lies entirely with the railroads, and their excuse is that the shipment of such freight is attended with much difficulty and great risk, and there is no profit in handling it. The rate is intended to cover future costs

THE FAMOUS SILVER LADY, SO AD-MIRED AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Her Intrinsic Value Is Several Hundred Thousand Dollars-Stands

dured the scrutiny and critical comment of hundreds of people who passed before her between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 | Middlesex, Vt. Mrs. B. A. Stockwell, a o'clock. Although compelled to divide honors with a millinery opening and an orchestra concert, Miss Montana enjoyed the aches. She continued to suffer frightfully lion's share of attention and boldly faced without obtaining relief. Finally a friend the keen gaze and criticism of curious fem- | who had recovered from a similar comininity. The graceful proportions of M.ss | plaint told her just what to do to be cured. Montana are 221/2 per cent. larger than the life-sized model of the pretty woman whom she represents. She stands upon an immense silver globe that rests upon a golden base. "Justice," with eyes open, was the carved, adorns the fair brow, and on its I should never get well. crest rests the silvery star of the empire. Her left arm, perfect in its contour, is unclothed from the shoulder. The tapering fingers of a prettily dimpled hand clasp the balanced scales of justice. The right arm is also partially unclothed and the hand firmly grasps the sword. The Grecian gown that is draped about the figure discloses a faultless neck. It is caught about the waist with an artistically carved belt of silver and gold, and at the lower edge of the robe a glimpse of Miss Montana's pretty ankles may be had. The feet of the young lady are uncovered. The most critical observer is unable to detect a flaw in the work of the artist. While Miss Montana's feet may be a bit oversize, they are as shapely as the most fastidious transfer. shapely as the most fastidious young woman could desire. As a benefit to charitable organizations of the city, Miss Montana consented to exhibit herself for a ten-cent admission last night, but will be seen free of charge the remainder of the week. A great many people are curious to see Miss Montana on account of her intrinsic worth, and forget that it is her artistic worth that makes her much more valuable than the actual amount of gold and silver represented. The molding of so much silver for a world's fair attraction was a great feat in itself, for never before had so large a statue been cast. When molten silver comes in contact with cold-air there are a number of explosions, necessitating the greatest care in making even small silver statues. When it was proposed to make one nine feet high the silversmiths of Europe ridiculed the idea. F. D. Higbee, who owns 624 per cent. in-terest in the silver lady and her pedestal, was confident that the feat could be performed. R. H. Parks, the sculptor who modeled the Hendricks statue, was given the commission for the work. His fee was $7,700, and after he delivered the clay model his work was completed. A plasparis cast was made from the clay model, but in obtaining the cast the destruction of the clay model was unavoidable. The plaster of parls immediately became quite valuable. Lest a cold spot in the plaster of paris cause an explosion when the silver was poured in, heaps of coke were put about the cast and allowed to burn for more than a day, so as to thoroughly heat it. This was rather a risky experiment, for the cast was liable to be destroyed. Mr. Higbee had little sleep for two days so anxious was he. After the silver cooled the statue had to be excavated, the coke having been placed in a deep hole. It was found that only one slight imperfection existed in the conformity of Miss Montana, and this was a slight bubble behind one of her ears. A few minutes' work by a silversmith removed this defect and the young lady stood out a crowning glory to the art of silver statue making.

The silver in the statue, 97,000 ounces, or about 3,700 pounds avoirdupols, cost $75,-000, but it is not worth that much now on account of the decline in the value of that metal. The bullion value now is about $64,800. The base is of gold of the value of $224,000; one thousand pounds, in round numbers, of the precious yellow metal. Director Leach, of the Philadel-phia mint, is authority for the statement that all the gold in sight in the world could be put in a cube twenty-four-feet in all its dimensions. Mr. Higbee, who accompanies the statue, says the gold base will probably be melted within a short time, as the attrition is considerable. People do not seem to realize the value of the base. The statue, however, will never be melted. After the owners are through exhibiting it it will be raised either in the Field Columbian Museum at Chicago or in the State Capitol of Montana. It will be a valuable relic of the period in the time to come. From here it will be taken to Boston in a special car, the freight rate amounting to $250. Mr. Higher has engagements for two years in this country and then he will take his valuable lady to Europe. The stores in which Miss Montana is exhibited pay $1,000 a week for the privi-

MAKING THE FIREWORKS.

How the Beautiful Designs for Pompeii Are Prepared.

rew persons who have been amused and delighted by the display of fireworks at Pompell have any idea of how they are produced. Yesterday Mr. G. C. Garretson, who has charge of the fireworks, showed a reporter some of the mysteries of the work. The men were busily at work preparing the display for to-night and one was enabled to see how easy and simple it all is "if you only know how." There were men busy at work upon the temple, with a derrick to lift the stones into place. Down in front of the buildings two men were making the set pieces for the exhibition. They had a large frame of lattice work laid flat upon the ground. Mr. Garretson had an ink drawing of the designs to be produced. With a piece of chalk he drew upon the boards where the lattice work was laid the same sort of design. Then one of the men tacked strips of flexible bamboo upon the lattice work, following the chalk lines, and the piece was ready for the fireworks. Lances, which are small tubes very much resembling lead pencils in appearance, are fastened to the bamboo strips at intervals of three or four inches. Then the "quick match," powder wrapped loosely in paper, is fastened with pins along the tops of the lances. A match touched to the end of the "quick match" sets the whole thing afire. All the figures are made in the same way, the only difference being in the frames. For Governor Matthews and Mayor Denny the ink drawings were excellent and their reproduction in fire was

For the most beautiful lady in the city to be shown one night this week the face and hair will have white lights, the dress will be of yellow lights, the fancy pin in the hair will be in gold. For Niagara falls, which is to be reproduced on Thursday night, there is a board frame two hundred feet long, with cleats fastened to it Attached to the cleats are the "gerbs," which make the gold showers. The "quick match" lights the "gerbs" and almost instantly there is a shower of gold two hundred feet long. The bombs exploded each night have struck terror to many a timid lady's heart. For the largest of these there is an iron mortar set in the ground. It weighs six hundred pounds and has a wide flange at the bottom to hold it down. The earth is packed solidly about the bomb, which looks something like a wasp nest. The fuse runs down each side, together with the "quick match." which is five feet long. bombs and mortars are of several sizes and the cases for the rockets are made on a generous scale. For a finale each night there are two hundred rockets, set in a box on stilts. There are two hundred perforations for them to set in and the same number of smaller holes are on a lower board, so the rocket will set straight. The quick match is applied, and when lighted the rockets go up in a grand blaze. The gold shower is made of powdered When it comes in contact with the fire it turns to golden sparks. All of the gold showers are of powdered iron. The skimmers are the things which, thrown in the water, turn to gold fountains. They look, before they are burned, like a doublejointed sausage. One part is air-tight and hollow, and this turns the thing right side up in the water. The pyrotechnics that go dipping across the water are pigeons, and

Back of the park is an iron-encased shed, which is the magazine, and if a spark should get in there would be lively times for that end of town, as all the fireworks are stored there.
